

Challenge: Pull out one of your half-read books from the shelf and finish it! Have you ever started a book and for some reason—had another short loan come in, got bored with it, got busy with other things—had to put the book down and left it unfinished? Here's your excuse to pick it back up and find its ending. You can start where you left off if you remember the story well enough, otherwise, pull out the book mark and start from the beginning. Who knows? You might enjoy the familiarity the second time around.

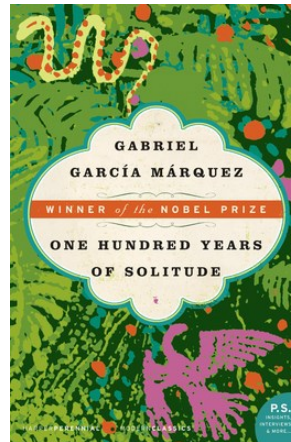

Reading ideas:

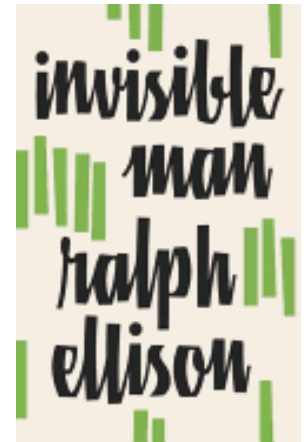

A Natural History of Dragons
Marie Brennan

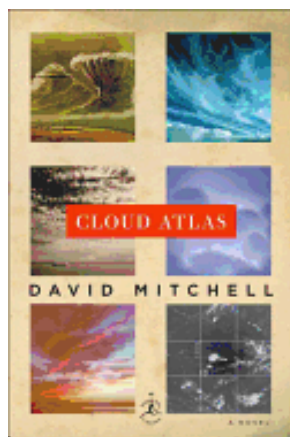

Master and Commander
Patrick O'Brian

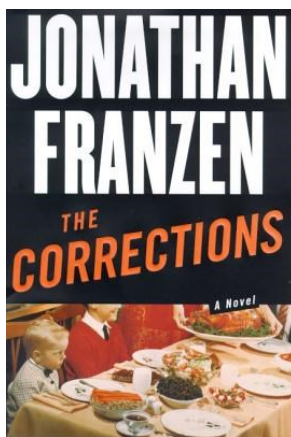

One Hundred Years of Solitude
Gabriel García Márquez

Invisible Man
Ralph Ellison

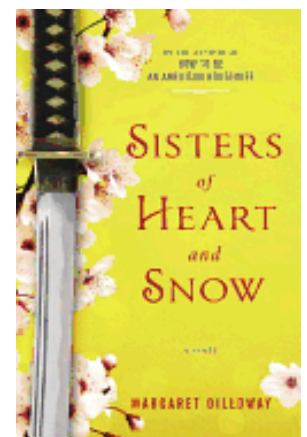

Cloud Atlas
David Mitchell

The Corrections
Jonathan Franzen

Moby-Dick
Herman Melville

Sisters of Heart and Snow
Margaret Dilloway