

Challenge: Read a nonfiction memoir. A memoir is a written recollection of a personal journey. While they can be written by famous people, more often, memoirs are written by everyday people who have reflections and insights to share with a wider audience. Memoirs focus on a particular period in a person's life or a singular theme revisiting a person over time, which means that memoirs illustrate a range of topics and life struggles. Reading memoirs helps us learn from one another's experiences and thoughts; it can also help us build understanding and empathy for realities different from our own. For more reading ideas, go to www.InfoSoup.org and type "a memoir" into the search box.

Reading ideas:

Educated
Tara Westover

Brave Face
Shaun David Hutchinson

Prague Winter
Madeleine Albright

Driven
Donald Driver

Good Seeds
Thomas Pecore Weso

An American Family
Khizr Khan

Three Little Words
Ashley Rhodes-Courter

The Deer Camp
Dean Kuipers