

A Pulitzer Prize Winning Book

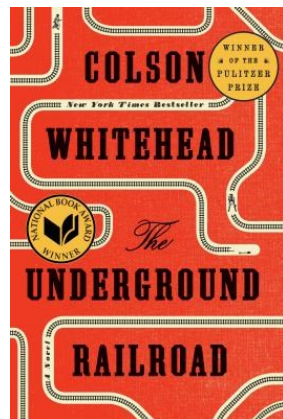

Challenge: Read a book that won the Pulitzer Prize. Since 1917, the Pulitzer Prize has been awarded annually to recognize excellence in journalism. Since then, the categories have expanded to include fourteen prizes in journalism and one prize for each of the categories in drama, fiction, general nonfiction, poetry, biography, and history.

A complete list of the winners and finalists is available at: <https://www.pulitzer.org/prize-winners-categories>.

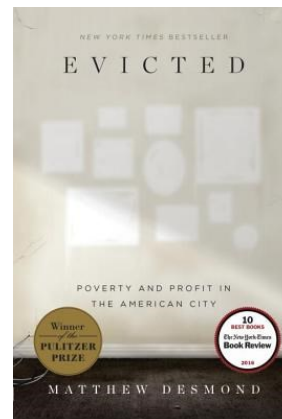

Reading ideas:

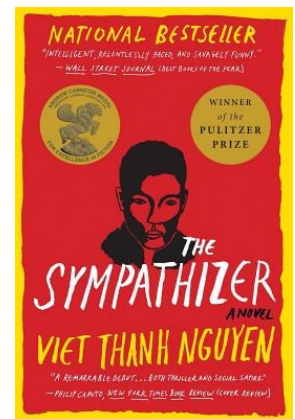

So Big
Edna Ferber

The Underground Railroad
Colson Whitehead

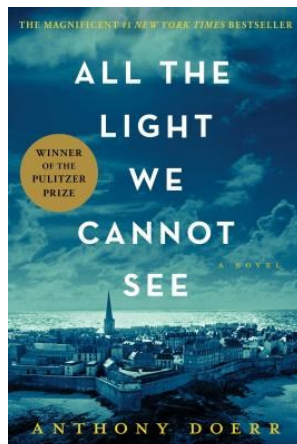

Evicted
Matthew Desmond

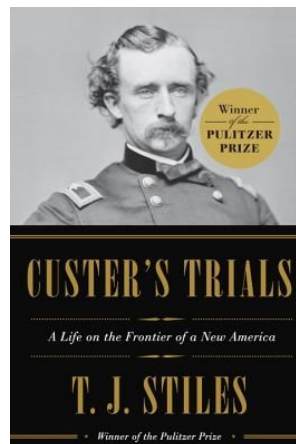

The Sympathizer
Viet Thanh Nguyen

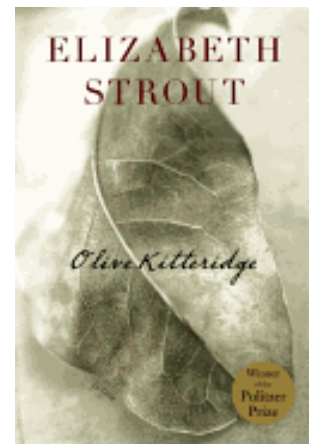

The Goldfinch
Donna Tartt

All the Light We Cannot See
Anthony Doerr

Custer's Trials
T. J. Stiles

Olive Kitteridge
Elizabeth Strout